

Mission Studies Network

Discuss
Chris Budden's
“Following Jesus in Invaded Space”

How do we engage authentically in Christian mission when we are part of a community that invaded this country? A compact but deeply challenging book.

Chris Budden, Following Jesus in invaded space: Doing theology on Aboriginal land (Eugene, OR: Pickwick, 2009).

Tues 7 June 2011
12.30 to 2 pm

Rear of Miss Libertine pub, 34 Franklin St,
Melbourne (you can buy a meal)

Next discussions, same venue (start preparing!):

23 Aug: Miroslav Volf, Ghazi bin Muhammad and Melissa Yarrington, eds., A common word: Muslims and Christians on loving God and neighbour (Eerdmans, 2010).

15 Nov: Lamin O Sanneh, Disciples of all nations: Pillars of world Christianity (OUP, 2008).

Offered by the Mission Studies Network. All welcome. Just turn up.
Inquiries: Ross Langmead, rlangmead@whitley.unimelb.edu.au
Please share this invitation with others.