

Call for Papers

BIENNIAL CONFERENCE IN PHILOSOPHY, RELIGION AND CULTURE

“Creation, Nature and the Built Environment”

The theme is to be interpreted broadly and from the disciplines of philosophy, theology, social science, literature and the arts. Topics that might be investigated include: overcoming the ugly and searching for the beautiful; pantheism and the natural environment; creation, new creation and salvation; landscape in Australian literature and its intersection with human activity; humanism, art, architecture and the built environment; beauty as truth and goodness; policy, politics and stewardship; the future: alienation or harmony.

The conference specifically aims to foster interaction between scholars in the universities and scholars in theological colleges. It also encourages young scholars.

4pm Friday 1st till 5 pm Sunday 3rd October 2010

Catholic Institute of Sydney, 99 Albert Rd, Strathfield NSW 2135

Convenors: Stephen Buckle (ACU), William Emilsen (UTC/CSU), Peter Forrest (UNE), John McDowell (Newcastle), Andrew Murray (CIS/SCD), Shane Mackinlay (CTC/MCD)

Conference website: http://www.cis.catholic.edu.au/biennial_conference.htm

For further details, including proposal submission (deadline June 18), contact Andrew Murray at Catholic Institute of Sydney. (02) 9752 9514; apmurray@cis.catholic.edu.au